The Judicial Appointments Commission (JAC) is now inviting applications for two posts of Regional Employment Judge of the Employment Tribunals (England and Wales), in the Bristol and Birmingham regions.

In addition to delegated responsibility from the President of the Employment Tribunals (England and Wales), successful candidates will be responsible for judicial leadership and overall supervision of the region to which they are appointed.

These challenging posts - under statute open to full-time (salaried) Employment Judges only - require sound leadership and management in the exercise of judicial duties, in the development of best practice guidance and in the training of the many fee-paid judges and the specialised non-legal members of the Tribunal.

The information pack includes the full eligibility criteria and the job description. It also describes the selection process, with relevant dates and advice on how to prepare your application.

The Judicial Appointments Commission for England and Wales selects candidates for judicial office. It does so on merit, through fair and open competition, from the widest range of eligible candidates.
